FEEDING AMERICA SAN DIEGO NAMES NEW DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT & MARKETING

February 10, 2016 — San Diego, CA — Stacy Rungaitis has been named the new Director of Development & Marketing for Feeding America San Diego (FASD), the leading hunger-relief organization in San Diego County. FASD's mission is to end hunger through healthy food, education and advocacy.

"I am very excited to be engaged in Feeding America San Diego's mission," said Rungaitis. "I truly believe hunger-relief will be my most gratifying work yet."

Stacy Rungaitis has more than 25 years of experience in development including serving as director and major gift officer for Drake University's Chicago office. She has significant experience in securing major and planned gifts, developing annual fund programs and planning special events. For the past three years, she served as senior director of fund development for North County Health Services and led a capital campaign to build the North County Health Services Mission Mesa Pediatrics health center. Rungaitis attended Wartburg College in Iowa, where she received her BA in business administration, management and marketing. She is currently involved in the San Marcos Chamber of Commerce, the Association of Fundraising Professionals and the North County Philanthropy Council.

Rungaitis will be responsible for the oversight and implementation of Feeding America San Diego development and marketing efforts beginning today, February 10, 2016.
