Feeding San Diego continues to serve the community during the stay home order because hunger relief is an exempt activity. We are taking every precaution to protect the safety of our staff and volunteers while providing essential services to those in need.

PRESS CONFERENCE ANNOUNCING EMERGENCY FOOD DISTRIBUTIONS

This past Tuesday, Feeding San Diego announced additional emergency food distributions to help meet the increased need throughout San Diego County due to the devastating impacts of the coronavirus. Feeding San Diego is maintaining its operations and striving to minimize disruption to hunger-relief services while implementing new methods of food distribution, including drive-through and drop-and-go models to ensure appropriate social distancing. Closures of schools, businesses and partner sites have resulted in significant gaps in food assistance, which Feeding San Diego is monitoring closely and launching additional food distributions to help meet the need.

SAN DIEGO UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT PARTNERSHIP

As of Friday, March 16, San Diego Unified School District is conducting a drive-thru/walk-up distribution of daily prepared meals, free of charge, to support students who rely on free and reduced school meals. Feeding San Diego is proud to partner with San Diego Unified School District on this initiative. Together with the San Diego Food Bank, Feeding San Diego will be supporting these distributions with fresh produce. More >>
MAKE A GIFT: COVID-19 RESPONSE FUND

Through our COVID-19 Response Fund, your generosity helps Feeding San Diego meet the rapidly increasing need for emergency food assistance in the community. Together, we can ensure access to nutrition for children and families impacted by devastating school and business closures, wage loss, and mounting economic uncertainty. Every $1 you give helps provide 4 meals.
